About Us

Building Value LLC is a nonprofit building materials re-use enterprise founded in 2004 by Easter Seals Work Resource Center. Each year Building Value diverts thousands of tons of quality building materials from the landfill and resells them in a public retail outlet.

A social enterprise, Building Value changes lives and realizes the potential of individuals with disabilities and life disadvantages through paid job training and transitional employment – providing a training ground for careers and jobs in construction, retail and customer service.

John - Building Value graduate

John came to Building Value as a graduate of Cincinnati's Brownfield Institute. At Building Value he applied and improved his skills through the deconstruction program and received hands-on experience that attracted his current employer. He now receives a regular paycheck and continues to build on his skills in the HVAC field.

Find that project starter – or finishing touch...

We're your source for new and used building materials priced up to 75% below retail!

Building Value's retail outlet is the place to find great deals on new, gently used and antique materials for your next project. A unique, ever-changing selection of merchandise draws an eclectic mix of shoppers:

- Rehabbers of historic buildings shop for architectural antiques rescued by Building Value's deconstruction crews.
- Homeowners look for deals on good-condition doors, windows, sinks and cabinets donated by remodelers.
- Developers, landlords and all shoppers love the manufacturer's donated overstocks of new items.
- Artists discover tiles, funky fixtures and stained glass for their unique projects.
- Landlords seek out the low-cost, quality materials for ongoing maintenance.

Clark Family

"We shop at Building Value because it keeps things out of the landfill and is less expensive. It's loads of fun to shop here = it's like a scavenger hunt!"

Donate Pre-Owned Items

It's tax deductible!

It's Green!

Whether you, your contractor, or our professional deconstruction team does your tear-out, donating materials to Building Value also helps the community. Your donation helps the environment through reuse, but also empowers people with disabilities and disadvantages to increase their independence through the work of our parent organization, Easter Seals Work Resource Center.
